CLASS POEM

The time for us is drawing near;
 The time for us to part.
 Our parents and teachers long ago
 Did give us all a start.

And now that we are finishing school,
 And are on our way to success,
 We want to do our tasks each day
 In this, our life of quest.

For of all the careers there are today,
 There must be one for us,
 One we can do and learn and love
 And win our goal of trust.

Our roads of life will not be easy;
 Our problems will not be few,
 But we'll face them better day by day,
 John Graham, because of you.

You taught us how to read and write.
 You showed us right from wrong,
 You gave us plenty of hope and courage
 And faith to face the throng.

So as we near graduation day,
 There are lots of tears to shed,
 Tears of joy, and tears of sorrow,
 And almost tears of dread.

We can never regret our school days;
 The good times that we've had here,
 And we hope that those who follow us
 Will keep you just as dear.

We must keep striving for the best,
 And with God our chance will come,
 He does for us what no one can
 When life has just begun!

JULIA RUTH MILLER

CLASS HISTORY

We are the Seniors of John Graham and soon, very soon, our big moment will come. But before the engaging activity of the last months before graduation begins, we would like to take time out to recall many memories that we have lived at John Graham and that we will not forget in years to come.

We entered the wide open doors of high school in September, 1946. The high school floor in the basement of the school was not unfamiliar to us since we had spent the previous year there and had met many new friends from the Afton-Elberon school. Our homeroom teachers were Mrs. Reid and Miss Elizabeth Allen, but after Christmas, Mrs. W. B. Stewart replaced Mrs. Reid.

We were truly "green freshmen," but it didn't take us too long to get accustomed to the new procedure. After getting thoroughly adjusted to our classes, we began to participate in various activities. Our class was represented with five members on the undefeated football squad of that year and members on the other teams as well. Two of us were chosen for the Seer staff and some played parts in the Dramatics Club Christmas pageant. One member was in the Senior play "The Fighting Littles."

In our sophomore year, when our studies weren't taking up our time in school, almost all the other activities were. We had excellent representation on all of the athletic teams. Five of us were on the Seer staff, and two were in the Monogram Club. Several of us were in the Dramatics Club. A large number of girls were in the Home Economics Club. In the spring thirteen of our class were proud to be tapped for membership in the Beta Club.

By the time we were Juniors we had really become full-fledged high school students and were ready for big things. From the first of the year we held many class meetings, sold magazines, planned a big Halloween Carnival, and kept an eye on the Junior-Senior Banquet. Eight of us worked on the Seer and we worked hard for the Beta Club, especially in reorganizing the Glee Club, which the Betas sponsored. Two of us were on the WARRENTONIAN staff. We were also cheerleaders and members of the Monogram, Dramatic, and Glee Clubs and the athletic teams. Near the end of the year came the Junior's big occasion, the annual banquet and dance given by the Juniors in honor of the Seniors. 49er's Gold Rush as a theme provided as much amusement as work while preparing for the banquet, under the able guidance of our sponsor, Mrs. Williams.

As Seniors, we began this, our last year at John Graham, by electing class officers on the first day of school. During the fall we were very busy making money, studying hard, and working in the activities. In November we chose as the Senior Play, "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come." We gave it on December 16th and the audience was very pleased. Our class rings and calling cards came before Christmas.

Since the New Year we have been preparing this yearbook, the record of our deeds at this institution. We are eagerly looking forward to the trip to Washington, the Junior-Senior, the publication of the WARRENTONIAN, and the Senior edition of the Seer. Then, too, perhaps a little sadly we are imagining farewells to familiar surroundings, such as the oak tree in the yard, "Warrenton Male Academy," the teachers, who are such good friends, the happy students, and John Graham itself. All too soon will come graduation and—

"We are here, dear John Graham High, to fling your banners to the sky!" Class of 1950.

Historian

PROPHECY

It's so hard to study for this last examination. Everything calls your attention away from your work. Class night. Diplomas. I wonder what all of us will be doing ten years from now. We've planned a reunion. Our furlough at John Graham has almost ended and we've shed some real tears along with the joy.

It's such a nice spring day—I believe I'll take a nap. I fall asleep. I dream and what a dream I dream!

What do I see? Oh, it's been ten years since we graduated from John Graham, and this is the day of our reunion. Three days of being together and picking up acquaintances, recounting adventures, relating conquests, good fortunes and brilliant successes. Shall I tell you of it?

James Hicks, who played football so well for John Graham, gained national fame as Carolina's star player. He is now coaching at one of America's leading colleges.

Joyce Hicks, the friendliest girl in the class, is hostess at the Waldorf Astoria.

Annie Louis Parham spent several years in Hollywood making movies, but she decided to come home and marry Russell, her sweetheart of high school days.

Vernon Fleming, after being Carolina's basketball star, is now living in Henderson where he owns a big warehouse.

Barbara Haithecock, the beauty of our class, is a model in New York. Her pictures have been seen on the covers of all the leading magazines.

Julia Miller is head nurse at Park View Hospital. She is married to one of the doctors there.

Mary Ann Williams is happily married to L. C. Davis. They have a cattle ranch about eight miles from Warrenton.

Jimmy Capps, who did such a good job in the Senior Play, has taken up acting as a career.

Ben Harris is a successful farmer in the Inez community. He also has one of the largest dairies in North Carolina.

Rosa Bugg lives in the Vicksboro community and is the Home Demonstration Agent in Warren County.

Those hours in shorthand and typing came in very useful for Grace Thompson, who is secretary for a law firm in Richmond, for Fannie Pendergrass, who is married and is secretary to a lawyer in Henderson, and for Sara Tucker, who is secretary to the governor of New York.

Mildred Fisher is married and lives in South America, where her husband is a contractor.

Annie Collins, the basketball star, is now coaching at Duke University.

The ecstatic cry or swoon-crazy teen-agers is no longer "Frankie, we love you," but, "Jimmy, we adore you." Yes, our own school chum, Jimmy Adams, has gained top honors as the Nation's Number One Crooner.

Rufus Harmon is a carpenter and now has a contract to build the new governor's mansion in Raleigh.

Cora Mae Shearin is a concert pianist. She will be playing in Carnegie Hall next week.

Wiley Hester still lives in Warrenton where he is a prominent business man. He is also a town commissioner.

Sam Hunter is owner of a large fruit plantation in Florida. He brought some of his delicious grapefruit for us to sample.

Jimmy Limer is a professor of mathematics at Harvard.

Molly O'Neal just couldn't leave John Graham for long. She is now teaching the second grade there.

Peggy Conn is, of course, Mrs. Bill Stevenson. They are living in Kentucky, where Bill is a buyer for the American Tobacco Company.

Lucy Lynch is manager of Rose's in Warrenton.

Margie Pippin, the artist of our class, has gained world renown as a painter. Several of her paintings are in the White House.

Harriet Traynham is professor of Latin at Vassar.

Billy Capps is now playing professional basketball and is leading the nation in scoring.

Gleen Neal is owner of a service station in Warrenton.

Thomas Evans never forgot his days at Odom's Flower Shop. He now owns a florist shop in Washington.

Billy Collins has recently opened a new pool room in Warrenton. We hear he is doing a very good business.

Jeannine Hunt, who kept us laughing in school, is now a radio and screen star comedienne. She has just completed a picture with Bud Abbott and Lou Costella.

Jane Overby Pridgen came down from Washington with her husband and twin boys to attend the reunion.

Evelyn Hight seems to have inherited her mother's sewing ability. She is a seamstress in Washington, where she makes and designs many of the debutante dresses.

Edward Allen is now Editor of the New York Times. We couldn't get anything but a strictly business angle from him. Elizabeth Peoples is happily married and lives in Roanoke Rapids.

Virginia Williams surprised us all. She never could decide between her many suitors. She is now teaching English at Wake Forest, her Alma Mater.

Verlie Thompson is married and lives in Norlina, where her husband owns a grocery store.

Billy O'Neal now owns a store in Warrenton which sells sporting equipment to many of the largest universities and colleges in the nation.

This leaves only one—me. And what was I doing at the end of ten years? Why, I was still dreaming.

ANNE EGERTON,
Prophet.

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

NORTH CAROLINA
WARREN COUNTY
Warrenton

We, the Senior Class of John Graham High School, of the above state, county, and town, in the year of our Lord, nineteen hundred and fifty, being of sound body and excellent mind and considering our approaching graduation in May, do hereby declare this to be our Last Will and Testament. It is to be executed in the following order:

ARTICLE I. To the Faculty

To our principal, Edward J. Bullock, we leave our deep appreciation for giving us so many privileges and for being so considerate.

To all the teachers we bequeath our studiousness, model conduct, undivided attention, and witty remarks.

ARTICLE II. To the Classes

To the Juniors we leave our love for the teachers and our hope that they will be able to have as many reckless escapades as we had and get by with them.

To the Sophomores we bequeath the privilege of higher education and all of the Shakesperian plays.

To the Freshmen girls the Senior girls leave their places in front of the rest room mirror and to the Freshmen boys the Senior boys leave the "smoking lounge."

ARTICLE III. To Individuals

The following personalities make these personal bequests:

James Hicks leaves his football ability to Thomas Powell. His love for flirting he leaves to Bobby Rivers.

Annie Louise Parham bestows her euteness upon Martha Aycock.

Vernon Fleming leaves his basketball ability to Billy Davis and his love for the Freshmen girls to be fought out between Earl Haithecock and Clinton Capps.

Barbara Haithecock leaves her beauty and ladylike ways to Belle Limer.

Julia Miller leaves her ability to write poetry to Julia Peoples and her determination to get in front of the rest room mirror and there stand for half an hour to Dorothy Hudgins.

Mary Ann Williams leaves her disposition to Anne Neal and her love for State to anyone who is lucky enough to be able to use it.

Ben Harris leaves his lazy ways to Carl Davis and, to his great sorrow, he leaves Mary Fleming.

Fannie Pendergrass leaves her size to "Dody" Miller and her giggles to Shirley Lyles.

Anice Collins leaves her basketball ability to Lil Shearin and her ability to stay quiet in Mr. Palmer's study hall to Willie B. Overby.

Junior Hester leaves all his Avon pocketbooks to Peggy Clark and his love for bookkeeping he happily destroys.

Jimmy Limer leaves his scholastic ability and his A's on conduct to James Jones.

Joyce Hicks leaves her cheerleading ability to Ruby Riggan and her friendly ways to Geraldine Pittard.

Jimmy Capps leaves his good manners and desire to help everyone to Billy Robinson.

Rosa Bugg leaves her size to the Faucette twins and her good personality to Naney King.

Mildred Fisher leaves her long hair and pretty eyes to Ruth Turner.

Jimmy Adams leaves his ability to sing and his good personality to Edward Thompson.

Rufus Harmon leaves his love for Centerville to all the boys.

Cora Mac Shearin leaves her basketball ability to Naney Gamble.

Sam Hunter leaves his lack of daily preparation of his lessons to Jeannette Hayes and his good looks to Murray Davis.

Molly O'Neal leaves her quiet ways to Rachel Powell.

Peggy Conn leaves her typing ability to Willie B. Overby and her love for Bill she takes with her.

Sara Tucker leaves her love for the opposite sex to Mattie Hunter.

Luey Lynch leaves her love for the dime store to Barbara Seaman.

Margie Pippin leaves her attractiveness to Karen Copley and her artistic ability to Herbert King.

Harriet Traynham leaves the Warrenton boys to Margaret Skillman and her intellect to Lilly Robertson.

Billy Capps leaves his quiet ways and his respect for the teachers to Allan Davis.

Glenn Neal leaves his love for Agriculture to Si Nunn.

Thomas Evans leaves his height and love for Henderson to Finley Read.

Billy Collins leaves his ability behind the "eight ball" to John Rodgers Fleming.

Grace Thompson leaves her love for short-hand to Mildred Tharrington.

Jeannine Hunt leaves her witty and boisterous ways to Faye Dillard.

Jane Overby leaves her frankness to Sallye Cheek and her love for flirting to Alice Reavis. Her love for Charles she keeps.

Evelyn Hight leaves her ability to get by without studying to Lil Shearin.

Edward Allen leaves his journalistic ways to next year's Seer staff.

Elizabeth Peoples leaves her neatness to Justine Neal.

Virginia Williams leaves her peculiar dancing in the halls to the future chorus girls of J. G. and just to keep it in the family, her fickle ways to Nell Williams.

Ann Egerton leaves her love for Mrs. Martindale to the Juniors and her sweet ways to the "rough necks" of J. G.

Verlie Thompson leaves her temper to Betty Fleming.

Billy O'Neal leaves his love for chemistry to David Scott.

We, the Seniors, sincerely hope that these bequests, which we have so willingly and so unselfishly left, will be as skillfully and as appropriately used as we have used them in our past years at dear ole' John Graham High School.
